Executive Summary

This paper constitutes the tender documents which will be provided to the firms in the three countries selected (Portugal, Czech Republic and Switzerland) for the conduct of the long-distance travel pilot survey.

The survey will consist of four parts: The first part is a CATI which has the goal to collect the relevant socio-demographic information; the second part is a CATI to screen the relevant respondents and obtain the basic information about the respondent’s long-distance travel in terms of a long-distance journey roster; and the third part will be a detailed travel diary in a mail out/mail back format to obtain the relevant items on stage level for intermodal long distance journeys. A follow-up Stated Preference (conjoint analysis) questionnaire (Part four) will describe possible market potentials in the sector of intermodal passenger travel by establishing the trade-off the respondents are willing to make.
1 Introduction

The work package 3 of the KITE project “A Knowledge base for Intermodal passenger Travel in Europe” aims to develop a suitable survey methodology that intends to close remaining informational gaps about intermodal and long distance travel behaviour. This work is funded by the European Union 7th Framework programme.

The development of the methodology includes pilot surveys that will be carried out in Switzerland, the Czech Republic and Portugal.

Considering the results of previous survey work, especially the “INVERMO” project, the “MEST” project and the project “DATELINE”, a survey methodology has been developed and is to be tested in all three countries.

A main objective of our pilot survey is to implement and to test the practice of a single survey methodology in different countries in Europe and the quality of information that can be obtained from it. In addition, a stated preference survey is designed to gather information about the market potentials.

The dimensions of the survey methodology effect data quality and the different response behaviours. They have been fixed as follows (short explanations are given below the dimensions):

| Survey object | all stages of journeys, involving at least one destination further than 75 km from the current base of the respondent. A stage is a continuous movement with one mode or vehicle, including any incidental waiting periods. |
| Explanation    | One of the major problems in having different surveys all over Europe is that different definitions of long-distance travel are used. The relative low cut at 75 km and leaving it open if this is network or crow-flight distance, allows us the possibility to fix the cut-off points afterwards. |
| Reporting period | 8 weeks |
| Explanation     | Especially MEST tested different reporting period. They found, that 8 weeks is an appropriate duration to obtain enough long distance journeys as well as a timeframe most people can remember well enough to give accurate information. |
| Approach        | stage-based (i.e. movements with one mode); with some journey level questions (i.e. regarding the | whole movement from home back home)

Explanation
To get information about intermodal passenger travel, we need to have detailed information about every mode used. And as a stage is defined as a movement with one mode, this information level is needed.

Minimum distance
75 km (crow-flight distance) from current base/reference location (see below), to overcome boundary problems between crow-flight distance and network distance.

Explanation
See survey object

Minimum duration
none

Temporal direction
retrospective

Explanation
It has been observed in earlier travel diaries, that respondents tend not to fill the diaries during the reporting period, but will do it at its end, i.e. in retrospective way.

Geographical rage of exclusion
none

Temporal range of exclusion
none

Other exclusion
the design should help the respondent to abbreviate the description of repeated journeys

Stage/trip/journey detail
see above

Household instrument
combined with person and vehicle instrument (CATI)

Person instrument
combined with household and vehicle instrument (CATI)

Vehicle instrument
combined with household and person instrument (CATI)

General journey instrument
a journey roster, which obtains the basics of the journey undertaken journeys during the reporting period, including basic information used during the screening (CATI)

Detailed journey instrument

<tr>
<td>Explanation</td>
<td>To include not only journeys from home to home, in many previous questionnaires different definitions were used for the reference location. 2 Sample

A random sample of persons aged between 15 and 75 should be drawn by phone. The sample should be drawn as a Random Digit Dialing mode (e.g. with a predictive dialer, Gabler-Häder-Design (Gabler und Häder, 1997¹)) or another appropriate mode for which the sampling bias through the sampling method should be predicted and be described in socio-demographic terms, e.g.:

- Age
- Gender
- Income
- Car ownership/availability

The tender should be made for a sample with an initial contact through a telephone call.

Replacement is not permitted, nor is proxy reporting during the telephone contacts.

The sample should be able to be weighted by using socio-demographic control variables and extrapolated to be then representative of the population of the country. Sub-national or regional analyses are not the goal of these pilot surveys.

In order to get a representative sample, mobile phone numbers should also be included in the sample, if possible, to take highly mobile people into account. Non answering phones should be dialed a minimum of 5 times during different days and time of days.

It would be preferred, if it is possible, to include the KITE survey questions in to an omnibus survey for stratification.

3 Survey Protocol

3.1 Overall structure

The overall structure of the survey is designed to obtain the largest response rate by the use of both oral and written elements. The CATI interviews serves to obtain representative figures for the basic information about long distance travel (journey roster) as well as person and household information. The following written instruments are used to obtain an sample of intermodal journeys in stages and to obtain information about market potentials.

The starting and ending date for the survey period is different for each group of the sample members and should be arranged in graded weekly waves of equal size, except of a smaller first wave and a two weeks break after the first wave. The purpose of a smaller fist wave and the two weeks brake is to test procedures (data exchange, SP generation, file exchange etc.) and to enable possible minor changes in the survey. The assignment of individuals to a particular wave should be random.

For a detailed timetable see Annex I.

The following protocol is to be implemented:

Retrospective:

Oral element

- Household-, person-and vehicle questionnaire week 1
- Screening and journey roster week 1

Written element

- Survey materials (Stage based travel diary and SP-form) Received by the selected interviewees within 7 days of telephone contact

Reminder

- Motivation call week 3
- Reminder post card, if required week 4
- Motivation call week 6
- „Thank you“ postcard
4 Contents

4.1 Main Instrument

The design, layout and overall appearance of the main instrument, i.e. the questionnaires and the question items have to be identical in all 3 countries. We will provide them in English language but also earlier versions of parts are available in Czech language. Translation in languages other than English (German, Czech, and Portuguese) will be done by the successful bidder and cross checked by our local partners. The questionnaire files will be made available to the bidding firm by us in Adobe Illustrator format\(^2\). Copying or printing of the questionnaires is the responsibility of the successful bidder.

The CATI instrument has to be developed by the successful bidder according to the WORD document in Annex II. The filter rules have to be implemented according to it. All interviewees will have to answer the same questions about their person, household and vehicles. The CATI about the long distance journey serves to get basic long distance travel information and to screen relevant persons for the detailed written forms.

The overall structure of the CATI screening instrument and the logic of the protocol is shown in Figure 1. The CATI instrument is included in Annex II.

\(^2\) If you have difficulties with this, we will be happy to find a suitable alternative.
The written survey pack shall consist of:

- One page cover letter
- Completed journey-roaster (Annex III, the red marked information should be filled in with the information gathered by phone)
- Stage-based journey form (1 page per 2 stages, 23 stages per journey, for a maximum of 3 journeys) (Annex IV) or commuter form (1 page per trip, 2 trips per journey, 1 journey) (Annex V)
- Explanatory Booklet (Annex VI)
- SP-Questionnaire (will be delivered by the IVT electronically for each respondent to the successful bidder)
- Check list for the respondent (Annex VII)

4.2 Reminders

The contents of the reminder/motivation calls will be provided by us. The exact wording will be discussed and developed together with the successful bidder in a preliminary meeting before the start of the field work.

The intention of the reminder/motivation calls is:

- to motivate the interviewee to participate in the survey
- to identify hard refusers and exclude them from further inquiries
- to ask whether the respondent has received the survey material (initiate new mailing if necessary)
- to offer the respondent assistance

The exact wording of these calls is up to the successful bidder and their interviewers.
5 Data and coding

A data set including the following information has to be delivered at the end of the weekly CATI and screening interviews for the selected respondents (see Annex I):

1. Unique person id
2. Journey roster data
3. Ownership of car driving license
4. Car ownership/availability
5. Income (person/household)
6. Age
7. Gender
8. Unique interviewer id

The following data sets have to be delivered by 10\textsuperscript{th} January 2009:

1. Contact history: records of all contacts with respondents (contact attempts, telephone contacts, receipt of forms, interviewer involved)
2. Household data set
3. Person data set
4. Vehicle data set
5. Journey data set
6. Stage/trip data set
7. SP data set

Suitable keys must be provided, which allow the linking of data across data sets. The raw data sets, i.e. in their non-corrected form have to be provided as well. They will allow for “before and after” comparison.
6 Reporting and meetings

The successful bidder has to provide brief progress reports according the significant dates in paragraph 8 and a field work report describing the field work and any particular observations by February 15th 2009.

Reporting language is English.

There will be a preliminary meeting of the successful bidder, the local partner and the IVT to discuss the work in detail, before starting the field work. The meeting will be held around mid September in 2008 at the offices of the successful bidder.
7 Content of the Bid

The bid for this tender (10 pages maximum; pdf-format, electronically sent by E-Mail to the IVT) should consist of the following elements:

- Description of the firm
- List of references
- Approach to the work at hand
- Information about the sample frame and possible bias caused by the sampling approach
- Costs for:
  - an initial sample of 100 persons
  - marginal cost for each additional 50 persons broken down for the parts of the protocol

The prices should be given without VAT in EURO. The contract is VAT exempted, as it is part of a EU funded project, which is exempt of VAT as an international organisation (See Art 15.10 of the 6th VAT Directive). We hope to conduct about 1’000 CATI interview per country and 400 detailed journeys per country.

Part: Long distance summary and screening

Now we would like to ask you questions about your long distance journeys between DD.MM.YYYY and DD.MM.YYYY that took you further than 75 km away from your current base. A journey starts and ends at the same place. This place is your current base. This can be your home or any other place where you stayed more than 2 consecutive days.

[if there is a question:] ... with 75 km we mean the direct distance as the crow flies.

J.A) Screening

A big box requires numbers (e.g. amount or percentage)

A squared check box is to be ticked for all alternatives that apply

A circle is to be ticked for only one alternative that apply

If a number is required and your answer would be “does not apply” or “none”, then fill in a “0” (zero). Please do not leave a number box blank.

Your participation in this survey is of great value to us and we assure you that we will handle your data in strict confidence.
GUIDE TO TRAVEL FORM

Every journey consists of stages. Each stage is a section of a journey using one means of transport, e.g. a car, a bus or a train.

The main purpose of a stage relates to that stage only, e.g. it may be “changing mode” (means of transport), “taking a break” during the journey to eat or buy petrol.

The first stage of a journey always starts at your present base, whereas the last stage always ends there.

Do not forget the return stages of every journey.

If you have not stayed over night or have returned home, then please fill in a “0” or zero. Please do not leave the box blank.

Commercial accommodation is a hotel, a hostel a camp ground or any other accommodation for which you have to pay. Private accommodation is the house of a friend or relative, or any other accommodation where the overnight stay is free.

Please give the local time of your departure and arrival, stating whether it is a.m. or p.m. Example: You leave London Heathrow at 11:00 a.m., you arrive in Athens at 04:00 p.m.

Please tick the check boxes for the mode that you have used for that trip. Examples for high speed trains are the French TGV or the German ICE (N.B. There are no high speed trains in the UK).

Please let us know all the factors that affect your way of travelling. For example you take the plane, only because there is a rail strike; you take the car, because your luggage is too heavy to be carried on and off the train; or you do not cross the Channel by ferry, because you get seasick and use the Eurostar instead.

The choice of transport often depends upon the allocation of travel costs. Who contributed to your travel expenses? Please do not include costs like meals etc.

For example if you stay at a friend’s house, then he/she “pays” for your overnight stay. If you stay at a commercial accommodation then whoever pays most of the costs should be referred to.
GUIDE TO THE COMMUTER/REGULAR TRIP FORM

A trip is when you travel to a specific destination to carry out an activity, e.g. visit a friend or relative, an overnight stop on a longer journey, a holiday or work destination. The main purpose of a trip is the reason why you have travelled at all.

Please specify your last regular trip or commute. Regularly means timely regularly e.g. at least once a week, or to the same place, e.g. second home location.

If you feel, that none of the categories apply, tick “other” and explain the reason for travel in your own words.

The first trip of a journey always starts at your present base, whereas the last trip always ends there.

Do not forget the return trip of every journey.

If you have not stayed over night or have returned home, then please fill in a “0” zero. Please do not leave the box blank.
